Just at this moment the olice showed up and arrested the combatants and also took in some of the spectators as witnesses, Talcott among the number. The only way out of the scrape was to show his card as a United States mail service employe and he was allowed to go.

Frank H. Morse had one of the Layman's pneumatic boats on exhibition at the lake Saturday morning and the craft proved quits a novelty. The pro-pelling power is furnished by the legs, on the same principle as a duck swims. The invention would prove quite valuable as a life preserver and is made of rubber and inflated like a pneumatic tire on a bicycle. ### LAID AT REST.

Funeral of Mrs. Emma Grover Yesterday. The funeral of Miss Emma Grover wife of Chester W. Grover, took place yesterday afternoon from her late residence, No. 63 Forbes avenue, in the annex. There was a very large attendance of sorrowing friends. Meserve officiated and made beautiful and touching remarks, speaking words of consolation for the bereaved husband and friends, and of the Christian character of the deceased. She was a memper of Davenport church and its asso ciations were dear to her and dated back to her early childhood. There were many beautiful tributes of flowers. The Frank Meyer and Frank Giffero. THE ARRESTING OF BICYCLISTS. The Notable Crusade of a New York Gen tleman of Wealth, Himself an Expert

Speaking of the arresting of bleyclists for riding on the sidewalks, which has happened in New Haven in the last to-night to accommodate Meriden at- few days, the following from the New tendants at the McDonough benefit in York Commercial Advertiser will be of nterest hereabouts;

Wealthy Thomas DeWitt of New York has abandoned his crusade against reckless bleycle riders. Mr DeWitt's crusade has made him fo ous and accomplished wonders for th bicyclists and all others who use the Boulevard. The first and only state ment for the press which Mr. DeWitt permitted on the bicycle subject he ot courting publicity, he authorize his behalf through his counsel, Mr. James M. Townsend, jr., (formerly o New Haven). Mr. Townsend said o the subject that so many misrepresen tations of Mr. DeWitt's action in the case had been floating about that in justice to him the true facts should be

"Mr. DeWitt," said Mr. Townsend, "t not engaged in any crusade agains bleyclists. He is a rider himself, and has regretted for some time the mjury to a good sport by the reckless and II egal riding on the Boulevard, and the danger and discomfort to the bloyclists themselves, to other vehicles and to destrians. Whatever he has done ha en done in the interest of all sensible velists and other good citizens.

'My impression is he is now conten o leave the matter in the hands of the police authorities, satisfied that now the way has been shown them, they will do their full duty in the matter. He has received the heartiest support and co-operation of Acting Captain Gallagher f the West Sixty-eighth street police

"Mr. DeWitt did not cause the ar st of Miss Raisbeck, concerning which so much hallabaloo has beer raised. He chanced to meet an office taking her to the station house. He a once turned back, entered the station nouse and requested the discharge of Miss Raisbeck, which was refused. He persisted and insisted that she hould not be put in a cell, and and was finally allowed to give ball for her, Mr. DeWitt himself executing the bond to expedite her re ease. His sole object was to save her for annoyance and trouble. are the true facts in the case," said Mr. Pownsend, "and reflect honor upon Mr. DeWlit," and that this was the corect version was substantiated later by Mr. T. A. Hand, who was present at the station when Mr. DeWitt bailed the young lady out. Mr. Hand verified Mr. DeWitt's statement in every respect.

"What are Mr. DeWitt's views, so far as you know them, about bleyeling?" "He believes in and enjoys the sport and deprecates its abuse. He thinks that at night, and in the crowded streets of the city all bicyclists should carry light ed lamps, and should ride at a speed not dangerous to them, to vehicles nor pedestrians. He believes that the present limit, which is seven miles hour, is too slow, and that they should be allowed toride faster, and that therules requiring all vehicles to keep to the ight side of the road should be strictly nforced. I know he feels that bicyclsts are imposed upon by heavier vericles, and that the rights of everyone whether driving a vehicle, riding a bicycle or walking, should be strictly preserved under the law." Mr. Townsend was asked: "It has peen stated that for a week past Mr. DeWitt has gone to and from his busiiess dally in a carriage for fear of assault by bicyclists who attribute their irrest to him. Is this true?"

"Of course, that is nonsense. He often roes to his business in his carriage." "The absurdity of statements which have been made along these lines is best hown by the statement that Mr. De-Witt is an athlete, more han six feet n height, and weighing about 230

"Do you think it likely that Mr. De-Witt will now endeavor to see that the rivers are more careful of the rights of evelists?"

"Somebody ought to do this, but I hould not think that Mr. DeWitt, in lew of the abuse that has been heaped pon him by the press and people for he meritorious work that he has acomplished, will care to engage in it. His has been the experience of almost every man who has tried to do any hing from worthy motives for the pub-
